Another Lively Debate in the Constitutional Convention.

The petitioners numebered 1,215 women and 485 men, a total of 1,708. This brings the total number of petitioners up to $26,627. The matter of the enfranchisement of women will be settled by the Convention to-night.

Upon motion of Mr. Lewis, the cities amendment was against taken up, and the discussion resumed.

Mr. Dean read a long argument, in which he set forth that the article was against the first principles of good government. He did not believe at all in Convention this morning, and then there

They may dismiss him from the De-partment for this offense. Even should fy to-morrow morning, when Capt. Devery's trial is called, that he is too ill to appear, the Board has the power to break him then and there.

State prison.

If the allegations are true, William S. Devery collected a handsome fortune inside of a year from the violators of the law, and in return for it granted them the protection of his policeman in the continuance of their nearious business. It seems hardly possible that the Police Board will permit him to escape by dismissal for the comparatively small offense of disobedience, to go free to enjoy the opulence gathered in his alleged partnership with crime.

Capt. Cross, "the Adonis," visited Headquarters this morning. He wore a brand-new uniform and a smile that betokened no fear or worriment of his conscience. He greeted acquaintances heartily, naturally, but he declined to say a word about the charges of criminal, as well as improper acts, against him. He said he had heard nothing more from Col. George Bliss, his counsel, who has written that he is too ill to take up Cross's defence to-morrow.

Mr. Irwin occupied the chair as temporary chairman and Mr. Stackhouse officiated as temporary secretary. The meeting to-day was to formulate a constitution and by-laws of the new league, to arrange rules for playing and to complete a schedule of games.

It is likely that Mr. Irwin will be chosen permanent president and Mr. Stackhouse permanent secretary.

TO BREAK DEVERY?

Police Board Could Act on That Insubordination Charge.

Police Captain William S. Devery has placed himself at the mercy of the Board of Police Commissioners by his insubordination in refusing to permit the physicians, Drs. Hamilton and Fisher, to examine him, in obedience to the order of the Board.

On the door-plate, under the bell of the top flat, i sa metal plate inscribed "Vali & Cummings."

The announcement by an "Evening World" reporter at Mr. Pitou's office, 1183 Broadway, that Cummings had died early this morning, and that it was reported that he har committed suicide, caused great astonishment.

"Why, Cummings was in this office yesterday," said Mr. Pitou, "and was apparently in good spirits at that time. I engaged him last June as property man and to play small parts with Mr. Mantell's company during the coming season. He was strongly recommended to me as a sober and industrious man and attentive to business. He was with Thomas Keane's compeany for the last two years and gave great satisfaction. There was nothing in his manner or appearance yesterday to indicate that he was in any trouble. At my request he went with my wardrobe woman, Miss Dart, to my storehouse, 550 West Twenty-fifth street, to sort out some properties and get them packed in trunks for Mr. Mantell's company. Although he was not yet under salary, he seemed enthusiastic under salary, he seemed enthusiastic about doing the work right.

"Cummings was rather tall and very thin. He was dark, sallow and, I think, a little fat-chested. I wouldn't call him an actor, but, like most property-men on the road, he could take small parts.

"He was to have done some more work for me this morning at the storehouse."
